James O. Johnson, Secy.

Dear Sir:—In view of the 5th instant, when our plan was to draw attention to the business of the National Life Insurance Company of the United States of America, the figures got late wrong positions in stating the number of policies at 4,170, the correct number was there, but should have been placed as to read 4,791, that being the number of policies issued by the Company previous to May 1st. At this date (May 14) the number issued is 5,245, insuring $1,150,000.

Thanking you for your uniform courtesy, and for the candid manner in which you have written of the National, I remain, yours respectfully,

J. C. Davis, Manager.

The channel at Hatteras is constantly deepening, which is of great value to this city, in a commercial point of view. — News Times.

Rt. Rev. Bishop Atkinson, assisted by Rev. Messrs. Barbour and Brown, held divine service in this place, last Tuesday night, and on the following day the Bishop confirmed three persons. Rev. Mr. Brown delivered a pious and eloquent discourse. The numerous friends of the Bishop throughout the State will be pleased to learn that he is in most excellent health. From this point the Bishop went to Gwynn's Chapel, Surry, from whence he will visit Wilkesborough. — Statesville American.

A gentleman from the rural districts was very earnestly seeking for a Justice of the Peace on Monday night to have a warrant issued for a man, whom he charged with having passed a counterfeit bill upon him. A magistrate was at last found but upon examination the bill was found to be perfectly genuine. The rural chap had handled so few specimens of the treasury department handwork that he did not know good from bad. — Newbern Times.

Good heavens! The Clarksville Roanoke Valley chronicles the fact that "three hundred colored men have left Mecklenburg county for North Carolina since the election." Surely we have enough of them here now, for all the good they are doing is Virginia to pour upon us this evil only because we are accused with Radicalism! God forbid! — Weldon News.

The Lead Mines of Wake — We learn that Messrs. Winder and Murray have commenced arrangements for working the Blacklead Mines, situated some six miles North West of Raleigh. The operatives have been engaged in cleaning off the earth and gathering up the scattered lead about the mine, and getting timber for rebuilding the dam on Mining Creek. A corps of miners will soon be employed in getting out and prepping the lead on an extensive scale. — Sentinel.

A ROUGH RIDE. — When the wind storm came up in Hunterdon, N. J., last Friday afternoon, George Kuhl, of Copper Hill, was just tying the cap-sheaf of a stack of wheat. The wind struck the stack, and Mr. Kuhl found himself sliding off with the top, and landed in the wagon which was standing alongside. A ladder standing against the stack was blown over, striking the mules across the back, which frightened them, and away they went over the fields on a wild run for the barn. On their way they took a short-cut through the peach orchard, running against more than thirty peach trees of four years' growth, every one of which was either broken off or torn out. Mr. Kuhl remained in the wagon all the time, and says he never had such a jolting up as he then experienced.

Swiss Justice. — A correspondent writing from Devil's Elbow, 18th, says: "An Island 40 we learned of a summary act of retribution perpetrated by a heroic lady living at Dock Bate-man's, on the Island. On Wednesday morning last about one o'clock, a buck negro by the name of Green, who had been working on the place but a few days, entered the room of this lady and attempted to get in bed with her. She awoke and reached for her pistol, which she kept near by, and discharged the contents of it at him. They took effect in his right breast, near the shoulder, passing down near his heart. He ran two or three hundred yards from the house and fell, where he died in about three hours. The lady deserves great credit for her presence of mind and courage. If we had one or more such in every house in the South we would hear of fewer outrages. — Memphis Avalanche, July 20.

A man has appeared in a county district of Poland who pretends to be our saviour come again to save the world. He has selected 12 apostles and pretends to heal the sick. Having gained considerable popularity, he is now turning to politics. He denounces the penalty for their indifference to the rising of 1898, calls upon them to repent and prepare for new efforts, and prophesies the speedy re-establishment of the old Polish Kingdom. The authorities might look with indifference upon the religious pretensions of the impostor, but they naturally do not feel quite so easy about his political appeals to the people to rise against the existing government. They are, therefore, using all means to put the movement down. They are apparently finding the task somewhat more difficult than they had at first anticipated.

Here is a bit of French philosophy by Dumas, the younger: "Wait two hours every day. Sleep seven hours every night. Get up as soon as you awake. Speak only when necessary, and say only half what you think. Don't write anything but what you can sign. Think neither too much nor too little of money. It is a good servant but a bad master. Beware of women before you are twenty. Avoid them after you are forty."

Gold Testing Downward. — The Washington correspondent of the New York Herald in his dispatches on Thursday says that the Secretary of the Treasury, on being questioned on the subject, replied that he had no intention of raising gold, and that he did not expect to sell any while the premium was at the present figure. The impression at the Treasury is that it will go lower. This seems to be founded on the fact that United States bonds have advanced in Europe in consequence of the favorable exhibit of Boutwell's financial statement, and that by the time there is demand for the shipment of gold to Europe it will be ready to bring into the market. A letter received in Washington from an American gentleman traveling in Europe alludes in some language to the beneficial effect of Boutwell's policy in strengthening the credit of our Government abroad.

One and Two-Dollar Notes. — Washington, July 26. — G. B. McCortie, chief of the bureau of engraving and printing, Treasury Department, has just returned here from New York, where he has been to push forward the work upon the new United States notes of the denominations of one and two dollars, which will be ready for circulation about the 1st of September. The new one-dollar notes will have a vignette of Washington and a representation of the discovery of America by Columbus on the back, instead of the vignette of Chief Justice Chase, as on those now in use. The new two-dollar notes will have a vignette of Jefferson and a view of the Capitol, instead of a vignette of Franklin, as on the present ones. The plates for these notes have already been engraved at the Treasury Department. The backs of the "ones" will be printed by the National Bank Note Company of New York, and those of the "twos" by the American Company of the same city. The designs for the new five, ten, twenty, and other denominations, have not yet been determined upon.

How Mr. Cresswell Broke His Arm. — Mr. Cresswell left here on Saturday evening on the 5.40 train and arrived at Elkhon about 9 o'clock, where his carriage was in waiting. He entered it and was driven to the house of the Rev. Mr. McIntyre, where he took supper. After supper they seated themselves on the piazza to enjoy a few moments conversation. Mr. Cresswell's chair was placed too close to the edge of the piazza, which was about two feet above the ground, and one of the legs of his chair projected over the edge. Mr. Cresswell attempted to tip his chair backward, and as he was sitting with his back to the edge of the piazza, the chair slipped off. He threw up his arms to recover his balance, but failed to do so, and fell backward on his left arm, breaking the bone at the elbow joint. The arm is so badly fractured that fears are entertained that it cannot be set, and will probably be the occasion of a long confinement to the Postmaster-General. — Wash. Chron., 27th.

New Counterfeits. — The increasing number of counterfeit notes, as well as the professional experts who pass the same with plausible and perfect facility, should cause people to look sharp when money is either presented to them to be changed or in payment for a purchase. There has been put in circulation within a few days a well-executed counterfeit twenty-dollar note, copied after the Treasury issue, and well calculated to deceive. A large number of counterfeiters of the various denominations of fractional currency are also about, and too much precaution cannot be used to guard against them. — Philadelphia Inquirer.

The scientific world is considerably excited over the eclipse of the sun that is to take place on the evening of the 7th of August. No event has lately been attended with as much interest to those who are fond of the marvelous and of diving into the mysterious workings of nature. The eclipse will occur, to us, about five o'clock in the afternoon, and will last until about sunset. It will be total in Raleigh, Newbern and Beaufort, and along the line between those places. The eclipse will be either partial or total throughout Eastern Asia, all of North America and the West Indies, and will enter the United States near the source of the Milk river, in longitude 30° West.

An Excellent Counterfeit. — On Saturday a New York national bank sent to Treasurer Spinner, a United States ten-dollar note, pronounced there a counterfeit. The experts at the Department are, however, divided in opinion. One of the reasons that this note is a spurious one, and others holding that it was one of the last printed on the plate, which was so much worn down that it blurred the note in printing.

The new two-dollar notes will have a vignette of Jefferson and a view of the Capitol, instead of a vignette of Franklin, as on the present ones. The plates for these notes have already been engraved at the Treasury Department. The backs of the "ones" will be printed by the National Bank Note Company of New York, and those of the "twos" by the American Company of the same city. The designs for the new five, ten, twenty, and other denominations, have not yet been determined upon.

How Mr. Cresswell Broke His Arm. — Mr. Cresswell left here on Saturday evening on the 5.40 train and arrived at Elkhon about 9 o'clock, where his carriage was in waiting. He entered it and was driven to the house of the Rev. Mr. McIntyre, where he took supper. After supper they seated themselves on the piazza to enjoy a few moments conversation. Mr. Cresswell's chair was placed too close to the edge of the piazza, which was about two feet above the ground, and one of the legs of his chair projected over the edge. Mr. Cresswell attempted to tip his chair backward, and as he was sitting with his back to the edge of the piazza, the chair slipped off. He threw up his arms to recover his balance, but failed to do so, and fell backward on his left arm, breaking the bone at the elbow joint. The arm is so badly fractured that fears are entertained that it cannot be set, and will probably be the occasion of a long confinement to the Postmaster-General. — Wash. Chron., 27th.

New Counterfeits. — The increasing number of counterfeit notes, as well as the professional experts who pass the same with plausible and perfect facility, should cause people to look sharp when money is either presented to them to be changed or in payment for a purchase. There has been put in circulation within a few days a well-executed counterfeit twenty-dollar note, copied after the Treasury issue, and well calculated to deceive. A large number of counterfeiters of the various denominations of fractional currency are also about, and too much precaution cannot be used to guard against them. — Philadelphia Inquirer.

The scientific world is considerably excited over the eclipse of the sun that is to take place on the evening of the 7th of August. No event has lately been attended with as much interest to those who are fond of the marvelous and of diving into the mysterious workings of nature. The eclipse will be either partial or total throughout Eastern Asia, all of North America and the West Indies, and will enter the United States near the source of the Milk river, in longitude 30° West.

An Excellent Counterfeit. — On Saturday a New York national bank sent to Treasurer Spinner, a United States ten-dollar note, pronounced there a counterfeit. The experts at the Department are, however, divided in opinion. SPECIAL NOTICES.
A book by General Lee will awaken such special interest, that we are glad to call attention to it. The UNIVERSITY PUBLISHING COMPANY, of No. 4 Bond Street, New York, announce that they have now in press, and will issue in a few weeks, "Memoirs of the War," by Gen. Henry Lee, thoroughly revised and corrected by Gen. R. E. Lee, who has added, also, an entirely new biography of his father, prepared by him from private and personal materials never before used. It will be a large and handsome volume, illustrated by new steel portraits of Gen. Henry Lee and Gen. Nathaniel Greene; beautiful steel engravings of "Marion Crossing the Pedee," and the "Surrender of Cornwallis," and five original maps and plans. Our readers need not be told that this is a work of great interest and value. It is the standard history of military operations at the South during the revolutionary war, and as such is a book which every reading man should possess; but its interest and value are both greatly increased by Gen. Robert E. Lee's thorough revision and correction, and by the valuable biography of his father which he has written and added to it.

We are sure that this announcement, alone, is sufficient to give the book a very great sale, but when we add that Gen. Lee is personally interested in its publication, such a sale is made certain.

As we learn that the book is to be sold by canvassing agents only, those who desire to engage in its sale should make early application to the publishers.

House the System.
It is a sad thing to pass through life only half alive. Yet there are thousands whose habitual condition is one of languor and idleness. They complain of no special disease, they suffer no positive pain, but they have no zest for anything which affords mental or sensual pleasure to their more robust and energetic fellow beings.

In some cases out of ten this state of lassitude and torpor arises from a morbid stomach. Indigestion destroys the energy of both mind and body. When the waste of nature is not supplied by a due and regular assimilation of the food, every organ is starved, every function interrupted.

Now, what does common sense suggest under these circumstances? — Dr. Cassell's Food.

The system needs raising and strengthening; not merely for an hour or two, to sink afterward into a more pitiable condition than ever, (as it assuredly would do if an ordinary colic or indigestion were resorted to,) but radically and permanently.

How is this desirable object to be accomplished? The answer to this question founded on the unvarying experience of a quarter of a century is fully given. In a new vigor into the digestive organs by a course of HOSTETTER'S STOMACH BITTERS. Do not waste time in administering temporary remedies, but take the system up by recuperating the fountain-head of physical strength and energy, the great organ upon which all the other organs depend for their nurture and support.

By the time that a dozen doses of the great vegetable tonic and invigorant have been taken, the feeble frame of the dyspeptic will begin to feel the benign influence. Appetite will be created, and with appetite the capacity to digest what it craves. Persuade until the cure is complete—until healthful blood, fit to be the material of flesh and muscle, bone and nerve, and brain, flows through the channels of circulation, instead of the watery pulchum with which slugs have hitherto been imperfectly nourished.

AMATEUR CHOLERA IN CHINA.
Tientsin, China, Aug. 23, 1896.
Messrs. Pease Davis & Sons,
Dear Sirs:—During a long residence in China, I have used your invaluable Pain Killer, both in my own family and among the Chinese, and have found it a most excellent medicine. In the summer of '92 and '93, while residing in Shanghai, I found it an almost certain cure for Cholera, if used in time. Indeed, using it in a great many instances, I do not remember failing in a single case. For three years I have been residing in this place, more than fifty miles from a physician, and have been obliged to ten to fall upon my own resources in cases of sickness. The Chinese came to me in great numbers for medicine and advice. Though without medical knowledge of myself, the few simple remedies we can command are so much in advance even in their physicians, that we have almost daily applications. We show them to come, because it brings us in contact with them, and opens a door to usefulness. In diarrhoea, colic vomiting, cholera, colic, &c., your

This is a very desirable place, and to any one who would like to keep a few rows of raise vegetables for market offers great advantages. There are six acres of land now in a high state of cultivation; a good orchard, with an abundance of excellent apples; a fruitful garden and a well of pure and cool water in the yard. The house is not attractive outside, but the internal arrangements are convenient and comfortable. It contains five rooms and out-buildings for a good sized family.

The property is just opposite the Female College and within 15 minutes walk of the public square. It will be rented with the growing crop, and two cows either sold or hired with it. Possession given to suit the renter.

"Power to Let."

In most of the Northern cities capitalists invest money in large buildings, in which machinery and steam power are placed for rent. A skillful mechanic, without money and with a few tools, can make much power and so starts to work. Instead of requiring eight or ten thousand dollars, enough to buy work tools and a limited supply of raw material is all that is necessary. The owner of the building furnishes the coal, engineer, watchman, &c., and the mechanic pays per month for the use of the room and power. Thus in one large building a half a dozen different kinds of manufacture may be carried on, to the mutual benefit of the capitalist and the artisan.

Is that way many a large and flourishing business has commenced, and many Northern and Western villages expanded into large manufacturing and commercial cities.

Everything men here have no doubt, skilled labor must come from outside or leave, and while our city languishes our people import their goods from more liberal and flourishing places. Our capitalists really do nothing for the country. They get, they hold, to, without adding to it, as they could increase the prosperity of the community, and at the same time add to their usefulness and wealth. All they here is hoarded, or rather, deposited. It is well known that there is a day in the city Banks enough money on deposit, which if properly invested, would give an impetus to the growth of this place that would make it up like a Western city. If capitalists would build large houses and have "Power to Let," there are at least twenty different branches of manufacture that would be entered in the course of a few months, and the investment would pay better than "depositing" in Banks and trying to write a fabulous percentage out of the enterprising. Charlotte is not growing as rapidly as she ought, when position and facilities are considered. And why? Because money is high and difficult to obtain; and, secondly, because capitalists will not invest it in those kinds of improvement which go to increase the population and develop the vast resources which the section abounds. No country can prosper as long as money is held at 23 to 3 per cent. a month. The enterprise is choked out, and business must and does languish. Under the state of affairs, all small dealers are either cramped to death or broken entirely, and the whole business concentrates into the hands of a few strong firms. This may be good for the few, but it is ruinous to the prosperity of a city or community.

Our capitalists who are prognosticating so confidently the future of this city will have to wait some time before they will see their predictions fulfilled, unless they use their money differently. Neither money nor mechanics can make a prosperous city—mechanics and mechanics arts must be fostered, and to that end facilities must be afforded the industrious and skillful mechanic to embark in enterprises that will keep money at home; and when that is done Charlotte will realize her destiny by becoming one of the largest and most prosperous inland cities in the South. Cheap money and proper encouragement to mechanics, by the same plan pursued at the North and West, will fill this city with small factories and a busy, thriving population.
